SUBJECT	Survey about gearbox command

CONCERNED : 2013 EURO CUP CLIO

Dear Competitors,

During the first cars deliveries last week, many of you asked us the possibility to have the dual gearbox command system allowed on the new Clío Cup (manual kit fitted in parallel with the semi-automatic kit).

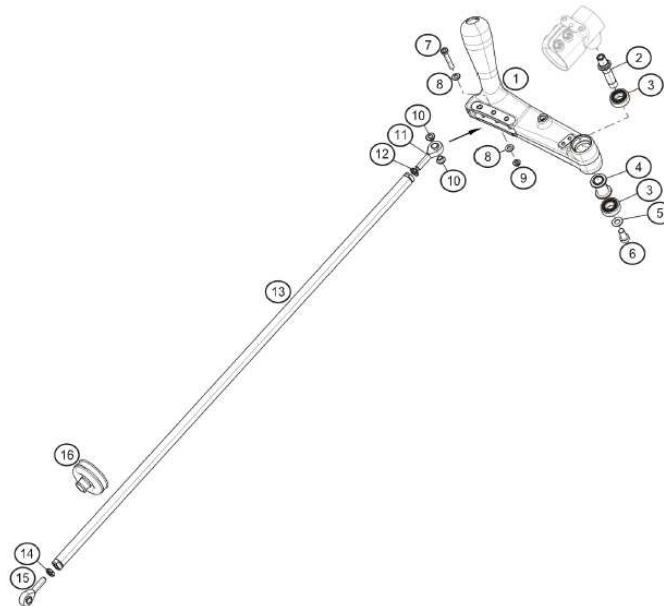

As you know, this dual command was not originally provided (only the semi-auto kit fitted) and represents an additional cost.

The Renault Sport Spare Parts dpt. can propose a special price for the manual gearbox command kit of 390€ excl VAT. Only one kit will be allowed per car and this price is valid only if the manual kit is applied this season.

This kit will be made available only if the majority of the 2013 Eurocup Clío competitors are in favour of its use, in parallel with the paddle shift.

If yes, its installation on every car will be mandatory for the 2013 Eurocup season, starting at the Motorland collective tests.

One vote per car will be taken into account.

We kindly ask you to send your answer for April 2nd the latest directly by email to antoine.voisin@renault.com

In any case, do not order the kit until the decision has not been formalized by a Technical Bulletin next week.
